At TIS,

we believe that success is the result of: taking on new challenges by moving out of your comfort zone; ensuring consistency by avoiding complacency; understanding that performance requires balance; and reflecting on outcomes to set new personal best targets. After all, success is personal.

Thought for the Week

You miss 100% of the shots you don't take.

- Wayne Gretzky

Don't Miss It!

There is something special at TIS tomorrow to coincide with Ghana's Independence Day.

For the past three years, TIS has held a Community Project Exhibition where G8 students display and discuss their Community Projects which is a key component of the Middle Years Programme (MYP). Parents have always been amazed by what the students have achieved as a result of these projects.

Tomorrow from 1.00pm, the TIS community can witness our inaugural Projects Exhibition at the TIS Sports Complex. This exhibition will showcase the Grade 8 Community Projects AND the Grade 10 Personal Projects.

During this semester, various Community Projects and

Do the right thing, even when no one
is watching.

It's called integrity.

Making Us Proud

- Our Top 6 Kognity Users over the past 30 days: Adeline Adjei (1); Nutifafa Folie (2); Chelsea-Marie Somuah (3); Kelvin Ahiakpor (4); Hedia Dickson (5); and Keen Ogbogu (6). All MYP 5 students who are setting the standard for all students.
- TIS 2020 Badminton Champions: Immanuel Frimpong and Nhyira Owusu (11-14 years); Fiifi Baiden and Amanda Agambire (15-16 years); Adom Acheamfour and Emelda De Veer (17 years +).
- TIS 2020 Tennis Champions: Jeffrey Adjagar and Ewurama Osei (Under 14); John Adenu-Mensah and Nana Yaa Obeng-Nkansah (Under 18)
- Student umpires and line judges at least week's championships for their superb performance: Michelle Zedomi, Awurabena Ahenkorah, Claris Perdison, Annalisa Boahen, Ryan Tano, Charles Opoku, Joshua Mefful, Jefferson Agbesi, Richard Agbemador, Wright Mawuli, Kevin Cudjoe, Kwame Asafo-Adjei and Ama Andah. Well done!

Personal Projects have been highlighted in the TIS Bulletins. Personally, I have been amazed by the projects and excited for the students with the projects they have completed.

Tomorrow, Independence Day, is your opportunity to witness our students' project work. For Grade 10 students, our MYP Pioneers, this is the first time for Personal Projects at TIS.

Please come along to and support their efforts and achievements. 1.00 - 5.00pm at the TIS Sports Complex.

A Few Other Things.....

- Admissions: The first round of testing and interviews will be completed next week and first round offers will be made on 16/3/20. I hope our current parents are not leaving their admission applications too late for 2020/2021. With strictly limited admissions for the coming year, there will be disappointment for some families.
- Re-enrolment: These emails were sent out last Sunday. Please note the deadline is 31 March, 2020, to confirm enrolment for 2020.
- BOL: To our G12 students who commenced their mock exams this week.....Stay focused, keep your sense of humour and may there be fewer scary papers remaining.

ACADEMICS

At TIS, we believe that the academics, as one of the four pillars for student balance and ensuing success, provide a theoretical lens for inquiry, critical thinking and conceptual understanding, as well as the opportunity to demonstrate our knowledge and understanding across many areas of learning.

EDUCATION FOR A BETTER WORLD

MYP TRANSITION TO DP

THE IB CONTINUUM

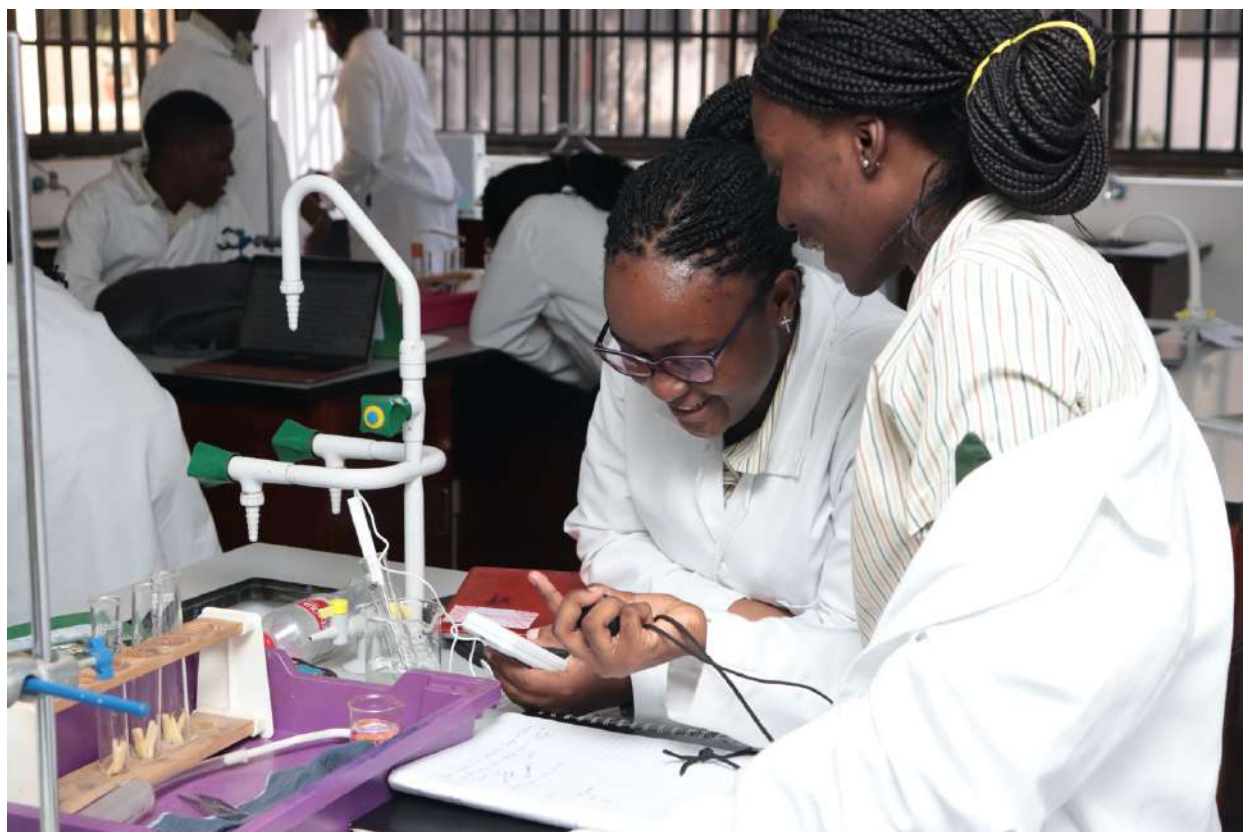

At this time of the year, when the final examinations for MYP5 have not yet begun and e-portfolios have not been completed, the thought of planning the IB Diploma (DP) seems so far away.

Looking at it from another perspective shows that, in reality, there is not much time left to plan for the IB DP for those students in MYP5. At this time, students should be considering 4 things.

1. Their interests in specific academic subjects - what they want to continue studying at DP level.
2. Understanding the requirements of the DP courses they want to take (prerequisites and prior knowledge).
3. Their strengths in academic study so far in those subjects.
4. Making a well-informed judgement as to whether to take their subjects at Standard or Higher level.

Considering these points reduces the amount of time taken on a course at DP level which a student might decide to change after Grade 11 has started. It also allows students to leave school at the end of the semester for the long holiday with a clear plan for how they will start the next academic year and what subject choices they will make when they arrive for familiarisation in Grade 11.

As part of developing the IB continuum at TIS, MYP5 students will begin to plan (this semester) their transition into the DP. There will be transition classes from the 26 May till the 2 June 2020. All MYP5 students will be back on timetable to take part in subject lessons of their choice to get an understanding of what will be required of them in these subjects at the DP level. As the first MYP5 group to move to the DP, MYP5 students will also be expected to demonstrate the IB learner profile attribute of 'inquirer' to find out as much as they can during their discussions with their current and future teachers by the 2 June 2020.

IBDP CORNER

The IB Class of 2020, “The Risk Takers”, will sit for the final IBDP examination in May. They started their Mock Examination on Monday, 2 March, 2020. This examination is to give them a taste of what to expect in May and to help prepare them adequately for the task ahead. All students have shown a good level of confidence and composure during the examinations. Some of them shared their views on the examination and how it is preparing them for the final examination.

“These mock exams have helped me psych myself up for the final exams which begin in May. It has been a great opportunity for me to get used to the protocols and rules of the final exam. This is very helpful because during the final exams, I am very confident that I will not be found wanting. Most importantly, I look forward to finishing the mocks so that we can go through the papers and freshen our memories on key concepts”

– Dwayne Gyateng

“Although the mock exam is not necessarily what we would get in the final IB exam, I believe the experience is very beneficial. Preparing for it has helped me identify different revisions strategies that will be effective when studying for the final. Also, it has helped me pinpoint troublesome topics which will also help me know which topics need attention and focus. All these will help me plan out how I study for the final exam so I can efficiently manage my time.”

– Padi Nartey

Fig 2: Some students during an examination session

“On 2 March 2020, I started with my mock examinations. Preparing for the mocks helped me to know how to prepare for the final IB examination as the mocks are based on everything learnt during the two years of doing the DP. It helped me to structure my learning time well as I had to plan well and divide my time to cover the various topics in different subjects. I also had to balance my time as I still had to tweak my internal assessments during the mock period.”

- John Adjei

Fig 3: Judah here is very busy

“Though it is only the first examination week, I believe this mock examination is helping me to prepare for my final IB DP assessments. To prepare for these exams, I have been able to schedule my time adequately to allow for topical revision for each subject. It has helped me to discover some problems I have with various topics and allowed me to start solving them. This examination period has also led me to practise more past papers which help me to apply all that I have learnt.”

- Davina Yawson

“So far, I have written a few papers with the bulk coming up next week. Although I have written only a few procedures, I can confidently say I have been able to get used to the examination protocols which are very important for any final examination. In addition to this, these mocks have given me the opportunity to put my revision strategies to the test and evaluate them”.

-Temi Olufore

Fig 4: Danielle Manteaw during an examination session

“It’s only been the third day of mocks but I’ve already seen how beneficial writing the mocks is for my final DP and the mocks have highlighted areas I need to go over and it has also helped me with time management and find effective ways to learn and retain information. Apart from that, it is preparing me mentally and emotionally for the final DP exam as mocks is just a prototype. I hope to excel in the mocks since it is a reflection of my final DP scores.”

- Danielle Manteaw

Best of luck in these mock exams Grade 12. We are here to support you.

Stay focused. Remain balanced.

HOSTEL NEWS

Maturing and getting better by the day is very gratifying. This week two students, Lena Dodoo and Edudzi Mac-Deh, were star students in the hostel. Their conduct and punctuality to school gatherings and the effort to behave in a very peaceful and helpful way towards your colleagues are highly commendable.

As we encourage our students to look classy, stylish, but decent here are a few pictures of students looking good in their African outfits. These outfits are worn every first Sunday of the month.

Happy New Month

CECILIA: THE EPITOME OF HOME

In Cecilia, classiness is the norm. A Cecilia lady is the epitome of intelligence, hardwork and confidence. We encourage our ladies to take action and strive for bigger things so as to be the best versions of themselves. In the hostel, they feel a sense of belonging, it's almost as if it was their second home. With each room finding different ways and means to bond with one another, this fosters peace and unity in our beloved Cecilia hostel. Our experience so far has been quite wonderful. We've managed to nurture the girls in a way that they see us more as their older sisters, rather than authoritarian figure, and for that we're thankful.

To conclude, Cecilia is a safe haven for those who feel as though the burdens of academic life are too much to handle. Being able to return to the hostel after prep to a room filled with caring and loving roommates makes one feel a certain sense of belonging. And this is what we are as a hostel: one big happy family of classy ladies.

TIS PARTICIPATES IN FIRST LEGO LEAGUE GHANA CHAMPIONSHIP

Last Saturday, the 29 February, 2020, members of the TIS STEM club participated in the first Lego League Ghana Championships that took place at Galaxy International School. This competition was for students who were aged 16 years and below.

In preparation for this competition, students spent several weeks of training to build robots and write programs to make the robots execute various tasks. In addition to the robots, they also developed some smart devices to perform various functions, such as fire alarms and water control systems.

Although, it was their first time, the teams demonstrated a high level of commitment and were adjudged the Gracious Professionalism award/trophy by the judges. Each participant was also given a medal by the organisers. Here are some reflections by some students.

On Saturday, 29 February, we embarked on a trip to Galaxy International School to participate in a STEM competition. It was a highly challenging competition. We departed from our school premises at 8:30am for Galaxy International School. In an hour, we had arrived at our destination. On our arrival, we registered for the competition at the front desk after which we were given T-shirts and taken to our private room to prepare for our presentation on our innovation ideas. It was a very interesting trip because I got to work with others to achieve a common goal and also I got to meet lots of different people from other schools as well.

Samuel Agyenim-Boateng

It is always nice to be around a group of people with the same interests as you, and it's even better when you're competing against these people. To me, this was more than a competition, it was a platform to apply all that I had learnt in computer science and physics. It was a time to meet new people, understand how they think, and learn various approaches to problem solving. I must say that it is very encouraging to see people, the same age as you, use different techniques in solving the same problem. Although I wish my group would have been amongst the top 2, I have learnt a lot of skills from this competition that are very necessary to win any robotics competition. I'm grateful that the school gave us the opportunity, and I hope that there more to come!

Jackie Buba

If I was to summarise my take from this competition in one word, I would say collaboration. For the first Lego League competition, I was in a group with individuals I had never talked to before and, honestly, it was quite difficult to relate to everyone. Fortunately, my team was able to cope with one another and bring in fruitful ideas. Being the team leader, I was given the chance to improve my leadership skills and appreciate technology even more than I did before. Though we did not win the competition, the hours we spent after school working on our robot was worthwhile because we learned a lot and in the end, my team won the Gracious Professionalism award.

From: Yanmife Fajemirokun (TIS Alumna- Class of 2019)

Current University: University of Waterloo, Canada

Subject: Greetings and Advice

Happy New Year! I'm so sorry for contacting you after all these months! I hope everything is going well on your side and at TIS.

- I just wanted to advise DPs about choosing their country of university early because doing that will allow you to be aware of the place you would want to apply for the visa.
- Applying for the visa too must be done early, especially when applying for a visa to Canada. Around May and June, that is when there is a rush from high school students and even those travelling to Canada or any other country for holidays to apply for the visa. I started applying for my visa online in March, which made everything easier because I just had to go for my biometrics and there are also fewer complications with applying online.

- Also, if you can book an appointment for biometrics, do so because at some point very early because this will help to avoid disappointments.

Happy Applications to the DP2s! Goodluck in the mocks! ~ Mife '19

Lesson Plan: Grade 8

What does “being assertive” mean?

You disagree with your boss, but say nothing.
You see something that irritates you, but you prefer to keep silent. Sound familiar?

You are smart and confident and you know what you want. Then why do you hesitate to speak your mind in a clear and respectful way?

Admit it- being assertive can be pretty tough as we assume that we will generate an offensive response or end up experiencing a sort of “Err, well” attitude.

Assertiveness is all about being present in a relationship. By being assertive, you are able to advocate for yourself in a way that is positive and proactive.

<small>ROYALTY-FREE ILLUSTRATION</small> Passive	Passive Aggressive	Aggressive	Assertive
Emotionally dishonest, indirect, inhibited, self-denying, blaming, apologetic.	Emotionally dishonest, indirect. Self-denying at first. Self-enhancing at expense of others later.	Inappropriately honest, direct, expressive, attacking, blaming, controlling, self-enhancing at expense of others.	Appropriately honest, direct, self-enhancing, expressive, self-confident, empathic to emotions of all involved.
"Others' rights and needs take precedence over mine"	"I subtly make clear that my rights and needs prevail"	"I boldly insist that my rights and needs prevail"	I clearly express that we both have rights and needs"

Different kind of human behavior: passive, passive aggressive, aggressive and assertive

Reflection

During today's class, I learnt about assertiveness, how an assertive person behaves and how they do not behave. In other words, things they do not do. We did an activity writing what we thought about assertiveness and it was done on a sheet of paper. It was fun though. I learnt that an assertive person is a person that has the quality of being self-assured without being aggressive. Some of the things that you see someone doing and you know that the person is assertive are:

- The person is confident in him or herself, knows what to say and when to say it, they have good communication skills, they have integrity.

Some of the things that an assertive person doesn't do are:

- They are aggressive almost all the time, they also passive and a passive person is someone that is just there meaning they won't say yes or no to a question but an assertive person will say, "Oh, I would like to go but I have something to do now, am sorry next time."

Assertive also know how to say "NO." I encourage anyone reading this to be assertive.

~Mawunyo Anatsui (Grade 8)

Be Assertive, Be Confident

Set Your Mind Set

- Define Boundaries- Be clear on what you can and what you cannot
- Convey Your Expectations- Don't expect others to read your mind
- Learn to say "No"- You cannot make everyone happy at the same time
- Hit Vs. Skip- Negotiations will have a final say

On 14 February, 2020, I was invited to Accra City Hotel to participate in an information session offered by the University of Ottawa in Canada. The session was held by Mr Alain Malette, Senior Director, Enrolment Management and Mr Oumar Ibrahima TOURE. This session was directed towards prospective students and their parents. I had applied already to the University of Ottawa and I attended the session to learn more about the university. There are many opportunities available at the University of Ottawa. It is one of the largest bilingual universities in the world and one of Canada's top research universities. I learned a lot at Accra City Hotel. The university offers multiple programs and you have the option to select the French immersion program. The French immersion program comes with a lot of advantages. First, you will get the opportunity to learn French as a second language and you will pay the same fees as Canadian citizens. The university offers over 450 programs across Arts, Education, Engineering, Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies, Health Sciences, Medicine, Science, Social Science, Civil Law, Common Law and the Telfer School of Management. The university is home to the largest law school in the country. The University of Ottawa has many international students and the city is one of the best student-friendly cities in the world. Their IB requirement is 29. This session helped me to be more confident about my university selection. I am looking forward to being at this university in the future.

A guide to making your firm and insurance choices (DP2 UK University decisions).

It's always a good idea to be prepared for every stage of the university application process.

One of the toughest parts of applying to university can be choosing your top universities and confirming with UCAS. Here's everything you need to know before making your firm and insurance choices.

- What are firm and insurance university choices?
- When do I have to decide? Picking firm and insurance.
- Understanding your offer and what is expected of you.
- What if I'm given an unconditional offer before I get my exam results?
- What happens with my offers on results day?

Picking your firm choice university and course

Your firm choice university should be the one that you most want to go to, and that's realistic given your expected grades. On results day, if you meet the grades for your firm choice then that is where you'll be going. Where you live and what you're going to study for the next three years is a hugely important decision. You'll want to make sure that you do your research and think about it carefully.

Some advice when it comes to settling on your firm choice university:

- If you really can't visit the university (perhaps you're an international student), then there will be videos of open days and online campus tours on university websites. Yes, these will be biased (they are trying to sell you their university), but at least you can see what the university actually looks like.
- Don't base your decision purely on reputation, prestige or league tables. Picking the right university for you is more important, and league tables change every year anyway. Being happy with your course and university will help you to perform well academically and get the most out of student life.
- Make sure you check out the student union website to find out all about the university's clubs and societies, as well as the student support offered. This will give you a really good idea of what your social life might be like at university.
- Finally, think about the cost. London and other major cities tend to be more expensive, which could affect your budget and how much you can do. It's not just the rent on first-year university accommodation: look at the cost of second and third-year rent, public transport, food, social life stuff, and the cost to travel home for the weekend, too.

Picking your insurance choice

Your insurance choice is your back-up university. It will probably have less demanding grade requirements than your firm choice. This means that if you miss your firm choice you still have a chance of going to university this year – and most importantly, to the one you want to go to.

- You can have an unconditional offer as your insurance even if your firm is a conditional offer. If you have an unconditional for, however, then you won't have an insurance choice because you won't need one – in that case, you'd be going to your firm no matter what happens on results day. And if you apply through UCAS Extra then you won't get an insurance choice at all.
- A few things to think about when you're deciding on your insurance choice:
- Make sure it's sensible in terms of the difference in offer conditions from your firm. If the grade conditions are too close, you could potentially lose out on both your firm and insurance if you miss your grades on results day.
- Remember, your insurance only comes into play if your firm rejects you. If your firm accepts you (even with lower grades than the offer conditions), you cannot at that point decide that you'd rather go to your insurance.
